

Visit to TEM Čatež

GZDBK organizes various forums, visits, and exchanges of good business practices among companies, entrepreneurs, and other working organizations. The executive committees of each professional section at the regional chamber form their own annual section operation program, and as part of this program, each professional section is responsible for exchanging good business practices through visits. This time, the Section for informatics (SI) planned a visit to the TEM Čatež company.

For half a century, the company has been providing its users with a positive and user-friendly experience. With simple installation and use of their products, a wide range of colors and materials, they can meet even the most demanding needs of every user and space. Their core values of honesty, openness, mutual trust, and collaboration guide their operations. They ensure a positive and user-friendly experience with the company and its products for their partners. They offer an open and transparent partnership to everyone involved in their daily work processes, aiming to provide their users with a good user experience.

During the visit, the host and president of the SO, Andrej Železnik, presented the company, its management, and the development of efficiency in automation, digitalization, robotics, and IT security within the company. Subsequently, the attendees were introduced to the innovation ecosystem and networking, which is encouraged by GZDBK, among other things, through the SRC-EDIH project. The visit also included a tour of the production facilities.

The visit concluded with an exchange of opinions, insights, and experiences over refreshments.
