

How REVOZ achieves quality excellence every day

Section for Quality (SK) of the GZDBK is responsible for, among other things, the exchange of good business practices and on this occasion visited the company Revoz from Novo mesto, which is the only car manufacturer in Slovenia.

The visit started with a reception, a presentation and a tour of the company. Revoz, owned by Renault, has been one of Slovenia's biggest exporters for many years. In terms of revenue, it ranks among the top companies in Slovenia. It carries out its work processes at a high level in one of the most demanding industries. They use the most advanced technologies, robotics, automation and have their production workflows regulated to the last detail.

The meeting was held in the conference hall, where the attendees heard the President of the Section for Quality, Igor Cesar, Head of Quality at Revoz. He gave a presentation on quality management in the company. Producing properly and achieving excellence in quality on a daily basis is also achieved through strict adherence to the principles, rules of operation and the consistent use of the tools in the Renault Production System toolbox, as well as through continuous training and awareness-raising of employees on the importance of quality for the success of the business.

The President of the Section for Quality continued with the meeting with members of Section for Quality, where he presented the work of the section in 2022 and the work programme for the future. Then, the attendees listened to a keynote address on the link between quality and automation, robotics, digitisation, and a culture of innovation and development, which is also promoted at GZDBK through the SRC-EDIH project.

The visit ended with an exchange of views, insights and experiences over a banquet.
